

PEOPLE MOVES

Former Federal Prosecutor Joins Murphy & McGonigle's White Collar Practice in New York

By Kate Rankin
The Cybersecurity Law Report

Joseph Facciponti, a former prosecutor at the U.S. Attorney's Office for the Southern District of New York with in-house experience in the financial sector, has joined the firm of Murphy & McGonigle as a shareholder in its New York office.

Facciponti's practice focuses on white collar defense, internal investigations, and cybersecurity. He joins from Cadwalader.

While serving as a prosecutor for nine years, Facciponti handled complex and high-profile cases involving a wide range of financial and computer crimes, including computer hacking, fraud, money laundering, and intellectual property theft. After leaving the U.S. Attorney's Office, he held a supervisory position in the legal department of HSBC.

For more from Murphy & McGonigle, see "Attorney-Consultant Privilege? Key Considerations for Invoking the Kovel Doctrine \(Part One of Two\)" (Nov. 16, 2016); Part Two (Nov. 30, 2016).